Laptop and Desktop Webcam

Using Your Webcam

Your webcam will allow you make video calls through your internet provider (cable or DSL is recommended). However, you will need to establish an account with a video conferencing service – we suggest Skype...and video conferencing is free. Download software at www.skype.com.

Connecting Your Webcam

When you connect your webcam to the USB port you may not see the InstallShield Wizard pop-up. Your computer will recognize the USB device and load the appropriate driver. For Windows users you will see the status of the driver install on your desktop task bar (at bottom right of screen).
